Terms

Place ID - Unique ID number assigned to the place for Council records.

Place Name - The name the place is commonly known as. In the case of the Stage 1 inventory, this may be the name given to a place in an earlier study (e.g. Bechervaise or Archaeo).

Other Names - Other names by which the place may have been known by in the past.

Lot Plan - Lot and Plan details, if known.

Street Address - The street address of the place, if known.

Suburb - The suburb in which the place is located.

Easting/Northing - These represent the GPS co-ordinates for a place if the street address or lot/plan could not be determined, or was not relevant.

Inspection Date - The date the place was inspected.

Place Category - CHIMS place category e.g. Burial ground. This will enable advanced searching of the database in the future by category.

Place Type - CHIMS place type e.g. air raid shelter. This will enable advanced searching of the database in the future by type.

Place Components - Components listed under CHIMS e.g. burial/grave.

Historic Theme/s - These are drawn from the Queensland thematic framework in which key historical themes relevant to Queensland are identified. Places tend to represent one or more of the themes.

Historical Context - The unique history of a place. Physical Description - The description of the place, including reference to key fabric and features of significance.

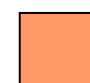

Integrity - The integrity of the place refers to the degree to which it remains in its original condition. In some cases, changes over time are as much a part of a place’s significance as the ‘original’ fabric, but integrity is nonetheless an important element in a place’s significance. Integrity was rated as Good, Fair or Poor.

Heritage Significance - The Statement of Significance is represented in the context of the assessment criteria (A-H).

Listings - This refers to the current heritage listing of the place.

References - References for the information accessed for the place. This will typically refer to sources from which historical information was drawn.
