CONDITIONS FOR INSTALLATION AND REFURBISHMENT OF PLAQUES AND MONUMENTS

Each plot is 1.2 metres wide and 2.4 metres long with the head of the grave being on the western extremity or closest to the concrete beam (if applicable).

The stonemason/contractor should note that due to the age of the cemeteries, slight inaccuracies might be found in the spacing and alignment of gravesites. It is the duty of the stonemason/contractor to work within these anomalies, ie the size of the plot can vary slightly and the alignment of the graves might be slightly out. The stonemason/contractor must work within the defined area and square up the site they are working on to match up with existing graves. Surrounding graves are not to be interfered with.

Graves are dug so that there is at least 37.5 centimetres of untouched earth at the head of the plot. It is in this position that the concrete block and plaque/headstone is to be laid.

Council's official grave number must be embedded in the lower right hand corner of the concrete block/monumental border.

A safety site induction will be required. Regular stone masons/contractors will only require a site induction before their first installation; any new staff will also require the induction.

All plaques and monuments must comply with Australian Standard AS4204-1994, AS4425-1996

Monumental Sections – all cemeteries

The finished size of monuments installed in all monumental sections shall not exceed 2.4m x 1.2m (8ft x 4ft), with a minimum opening of 2.0m to allow for reopening.
